Local Support

Save the Children and No Kid Hungry will help make sure schools and community programs have the support they need to keep feeding vulnerable children during the pandemic, as well as to provide age-appropriate books, learning activities, games and toys to children whose schools are closed in some of rural America's poorest communities.

CORONAVIRUS AND KIDS: RESOURCES FROM SAVE THE CHILDREN

WEEKLY LEARNING ACTIVITIES: GRADES 2-6 ACTIVITY: READING AND WRITING

Monday

READING

Help your child select a story to read from their bookshelf or from this digital resource. Have them share a 2-minute summary of the story.

WRITING

Write an alternate ending for the passage or book just read.

Tuesday

READING

Have your child select poems to read or listen to from this link. Have your child share their favorite one and tell you why.

WRITING

Have your child write his or her own poem and read aloud.

Wednesday

READING

Select a readers' theater script. Assign parts and allow time to practice several times. Discuss key parts of the skit and the types of voices that should be used for each part.

WRITING

Using a short picture book, have your child create a readers' theater script out of the story.

CORONAVIRUS AND KIDS: RESOURCES FROM SAVE THE CHILDREN

WEEKLY LEARNING ACTIVITIES: EARLY CHILDHOOD

Monday

Babies love to hear you talk! Talking about the sizes of different items in your home supports connection with your baby. Toddlers can try to imitate your language and older children can talk about sizes.

Save milk cartons, empty tissue boxes or cereal boxes. Your child can stack them to make towers. Practice counting and guessing how tall you can make it together!

Tuesday

Water play feels good! Sing a song like baby shark in the bath while pouring water over hands/feet/etc. Name the body parts you are washing.

Have some fun in the bath. You can talk about all the things to do in the water. Use plastic cups of different sizes to talk about full and empty, dripping and pouring.

Wednesday

Babies love to play peek-a-boo. Hide your face with socks or other clothing items.

Help your child sort objects into piles. For example, socks in one pile and shirts in another. Talk about which has more.

Thursday

Use your finger to trace shapes/letters/numbers on your baby, toddler or preschooler's hand or back. For older children have them guess what you are drawing.

Hold up your hands to your child's hands. Talk about the different sizes and how it feels.

Friday

Sing action songs together, such as "Ring Around the Rosey" or "Itsy-Bitsy Spider." Do the actions together.

Counting songs are great! Think of songs like "5 Green and Speckled Frogs" or "5 Little Monkeys Jumping on the Bed" to practice number sense.

PARENT AND CAREGIVER CORNER

There is going to be a lot more time with you and your child or children in close quarters. Your patience will be tested, and you may find yourself being more reactive than you are used to. Remember that feeling this way under these circumstances is totally normal, and it doesn't make you a bad caregiver!

It may be that you just need a small break. Take a few moments to quiet your mind, close your eyes, and take 3 slow, deep breaths. Say to yourself, "I am doing the best that I can. Peace begins with me." Open your eyes and take a pulse on your inner calm.

Your calm will influence the calm of your children. Let us assure you, "We're in this together!"
